

Lesson 4

Can You Feel Emotions in Text?

本文・和訳／単語・熟語／全問題と解答／Whole Text View／Grammar／Real Life
Information／Real Life English

写真の端で切れていたQuestion 5～7とOpinion 3は、最後の補足画像を使って復元しています。Listening音声そのものが写真に含まれない問題は、推測で断定せず、その旨を明記しています。

Think-Pair-Share (解答例)

Do you use emoticons or emojis? Why? Which one do you use the most in texting?

Yes, I do. They help me express my feelings quickly. I use the smiling face most often.

はい。気持ちをすばやく表すのに役立つからです。笑顔の絵文字をいちばんよく使います。

1. 本文・和訳

Part 1 Introduction

You are curious about differences in emoticons and emojis between Japan and other countries. You have found an essay about it.

【和訳】あなたは、日本とほかの国々の顔文字や絵文字の違いに興味を持っています。それについての小論文を見つけました。

Have you had the experience of not being understood when you communicate through email or social media? In face-to-face communication, we use not only words but also facial expressions and tone of voice. They enable us to express what we want to say and how we feel. On the other hand, if we rely only on typed letters, there is always a possibility of misunderstandings or even arguments occurring. Many people often use emoticons or emojis to assist with putting emotions to their messages. If you type "Thank you! ^_^," you may be able to convey your feelings better.

【和訳】メールやSNSで意思を伝えたとき、理解してもらえなかった経験はありますか。対面でのコミュニケーションでは、言葉だけでなく、表情や声の調子も使います。それによって、言いたいことや自分の気持ちを表せます。一方、入力した文字だけに頼ると、誤解や口論さえ起こる可能性が常にあります。多くの人は、メッセージに感情を添えるため、顔文字や絵文字を使います。「Thank you! ^_^」と入力すれば、気持ちをよりよく伝えられるかもしれません。

It can be worth using emoticons or emojis to expand our range of expression. However, especially when we are engaged in digital correspondence with people in other countries, it may not be easy to convey subtle nuances by using them. There are several reasons why this might be the case.

【和訳】表現の幅を広げるために、顔文字や絵文字を使う価値はあり得ます。しかし、特にほかの国の人々とデジタル通信をしている場合、それらを使って微妙なニュアンスを伝えるのは簡単でないかもしれません。そうなるのには、いくつかの理由があります。

Part 1 New Words

Word / Phrase	和訳
emoticon	顔文字
emoji	絵文字
facial	顔の、表情の
misunderstanding	誤解
expand	広げる、拡大する
engaged	従事して、関わって
digital	デジタルの
subtle	微妙な、かすかな
nuance	ニュアンス、微妙な差

Questions 1-2

1. What two things are lost in communication through email?

Answer: Facial expressions and tone of voice are lost.

答えの意味：表情と声の調子です。

2. What is useful to make up for the lack of facial expressions in writing communication?

Answer: Emoticons and emojis are useful.

答えの意味：顔文字や絵文字が役立ちます。

Opinion 1 (解答例)

Do you find it natural to use emoticons or emojis in a message?

Answer: Yes. They help me show my feelings clearly in short messages.

答えの意味：はい。短いメッセージでも気持ちをはっきり示すのに役立つからです。

Part 2 Differences in country and culture

Firstly, people in different countries use different emoticons. Emoticons can be divided into two main types: horizontal :) and vertical ^_^ . Some researchers analyzed the emoticons in 1 billion "tweets" in 15 different countries. As shown in the pie charts below, people in English-speaking countries overwhelmingly use the horizontal style. South Koreans most actively use vertical emoticons, 74% of the time. Japanese people also use vertical emoticons more often than horizontal ones. Interestingly, horizontal emoticons were more popular than vertical ones in other Asian countries such as the Philippines and Singapore. In these countries, people commonly use English along with their local languages.

【和訳】第一に、国が違えば使う顔文字も異なります。顔文字は主に、横向きの :) と縦向きの ^_^ の2種類に分けられます。研究者たちは15か国の10億件の「ツイート」に含まれる顔文字を分析しました。円グラフが示すように、英語圏では圧倒的に横向きが使われます。韓国では縦向きが最も活発に使われ、使用率は74%です。日本でも横向きより縦向きが多く使われます。興味深いことに、フィリピンやシンガポールなどほかのアジア諸国では、縦向きより横向きのほうが人気でした。これらの国では、現地語とともに英語が広く使われています。

Secondly, each culture has its unique ways of expressing different feelings. The emoticon representing a drop of sweat on a person's face ^_~; is sometimes used in South Korea and Japan to express shyness, embarrassment, or confusion. These kinds of expressions are only found within vertical emoticons. They would be completely alien to people who use horizontal emoticons.

【和訳】第二に、文化ごとに感情の表し方は独特です。人の顔に汗のしずくがついた ^_~; という顔文字は、韓国や日本で、恥ずかしさ、当惑、混乱を表すために使われることがあります。この種の表現は縦向き顔文字にしか見られません。横向き顔文字を使う人々には、まったくなじみのないものでしょう。

Part 2 New Words

Word / Phrase	和訳
firstly	第一に
horizontal	横向きの、水平の
vertical	縦向きの、垂直の

Word / Phrase	和訳
analyze	分析する
tweet	ツイート、短文投稿
chart	図表、グラフ
overwhelmingly	圧倒的に
actively	活発に、積極的に
interestingly	興味深いことに
Singapore	シンガポール
commonly	一般に、よく
secondly	第二に
shyness	恥ずかしさ
confusion	混乱、困惑
alien	なじみのない、異質な

Questions 3-4

3. What is the first reason that it would not be easy to convey subtle nuances with emoticons?

Answer: People in different countries use different emoticons.

答えの意味：国によって使う顔文字が異なるからです。

4. What is the second reason?

Answer: Each culture has its own ways of expressing feelings.

答えの意味：文化ごとに感情の表し方が独特だからです。

Opinion 2 (解答例)

Which type of emoticons would you use to communicate with an American?

Answer: I would use horizontal emoticons because they are common in English-speaking countries.

答えの意味：英語圏では一般的なので、横向き顔文字を使います。

Part 3 Differences in facial perception

Thirdly, people view different parts of the face when they interpret emotions. One study investigated the ways Japanese and Americans focus on emoticons. The study participants were asked to evaluate how happy or sad each of six different emoticons looked. The faces were a combination of three different "eyes" (^, ., and ^) and three different "mouths" (x, -, and x). The participants were asked to rate the emoticons on a scale of 1 to 9, with 9 being the happiest. Through the study, the researchers found that Japanese people tended to judge emoticons by looking at the eyes. Unlike Japanese participants, Americans looked more closely at the mouth. This finding may explain why the feeling represented by the expression "Thank you! ^_^" might not be understood by an American.

【和訳】第三に、感情を読み取る時に、人々が見る顔の部分は異なります。ある研究は、日本人とアメリカ人が顔文字のどこに注目するかを調べました。参加者は6種類の顔文字がどの程度幸せそう

、または悲しそうに見えるかを評価しました。それらの顔は、3種類の「目」と3種類の「口」の組み合わせでした。参加者は1から9までの尺度で評価し、9が最も幸せな状態でした。研究の結果、日本人は目を見て顔文字を判断する傾向があることが分かりました。日本人とは異なり、アメリカ人は口をより注意深く見ました。この発見は、「Thank you!
^_^」が表す気持ちをアメリカ人が理解できない可能性を説明しているのかもしれませんが。

Part 3 New Words

Word / Phrase	和訳
thirdly	第三に
interpret	解釈する、読み取る
investigate	調査する
participant	参加者
evaluate	評価する
tend	～する傾向がある
unlike	～と違って

Questions 5-7（補足画像で復元）

5. What is the third reason that it would not be easy to convey subtle nuances with emoticons?

Answer: People in different cultures look at different parts of the face when interpreting emotions.

答えの意味：文化によって、感情を読み取る際に見る顔の部分が異なるからです。

6. Which two parts of the face does the research focus on?

Answer: It focuses on the eyes and the mouth.

答えの意味：目と口です。

7. What emoticons may be difficult for an American to interpret as a happy mood?

Answer: Emoticons that show happiness mainly through the eyes, such as ^_^, may be difficult.

答えの意味：^_^のように、主に目で喜びを表す顔文字です。

Opinion 3（補足画像で復元・解答例）

Which is easier for you to perceive as a happy mood: a face with smiley eyes or with a smiley mouth?

Answer: A face with smiley eyes is easier for me because I usually look at the eyes first.

答えの意味：私は最初に目を見ることが多いので、笑った目の顔のほうが分かりやすいです。

Part 4 Experience and conclusion

Lastly, people need to have seen some emoticons before they can understand their meanings. An experiment was conducted in Japan, Cameroon, and Tanzania. The participants were asked to rate three different styles of emoticons by using a "sadness-happiness" scale. The Japanese participants easily recognized the emotions in the emoticons. On the other hand, the participants in Cameroon and Tanzania hardly understood them. They were utterly baffled by what the shape of each emoticon indicated. In other words, emoticons do not look like facial expressions to everyone.

【和訳】最後に、顔文字の意味を理解するには、以前にそれを見たことがなければなりません。日本、カメルーン、タンザニアで実験が行われました。参加者は「悲しさー幸せ」の尺度を使い、3種類の顔文字を評価しました。日本人参加者は顔文字の感情を容易に認識しました。一方、カメルーンとタンザニアの参加者はほとんど理解できませんでした。顔文字の形が何を示すのか分からず、完全に困惑しました。言い換えれば、顔文字がすべての人に表情のように見えるわけではありません。

Thus, emoticons are by no means universal. The style and usage of emoticons depend on the country, culture, and the way people perceive faces. There are also many people who have never seen them in the first place. Emoticons play a certain role in online communication, but we should not entirely rely on emoticons in cross-cultural communication. It goes without saying that writing clearly and logically is more important.

【和訳】したがって、顔文字は決して世界共通ではありません。顔文字の形式や使い方は、国、文化、そして人々が顔をどう捉えるかによって異なります。そもそも顔文字を見たことがない人も大勢います。オンラインの意思疎通で一定の役割を果たしますが、異文化間のコミュニケーションで顔文字に完全に頼るべきではありません。明確に、筋道を立てて書くほうが重要なのは言うまでもありません。

Part 4 New Words

Word / Phrase	和訳
lastly	最後に
Cameroon	カメルーン
Tanzania	タンザニア
sadness	悲しさ
utterly	まったく、完全に
baffled	当惑した
indicate	示す
universal	世界共通の、普遍的な
usage	使用法、用法 perceive	知覚する、捉える
entirely	完全に、すっかり
logically	論理的に

Questions 8-10

8. What is the fourth reason that it would not be easy to convey subtle nuances with emoticons?

Answer: People need to have seen emoticons before they can understand their meanings.

答えの意味：意味を理解するには、その顔文字を以前に見ている必要があるからです。

9. Why were Tanzanians and Cameroonians puzzled by emoticons?

Answer: They hardly understood what the shapes of the emoticons indicated.

答えの意味：顔文字の形が何を示すのか、ほとんど理解できなかったからです。

10. What is more important than simply relying on emoticons?

Answer: Writing clearly and logically is more important.

答えの意味：明確に、論理的に書くことです。

Opinion 4 (解答例)

When you receive a message like "Good luck :-P," what do you think it means?

Answer: I think the sender is wishing me good luck in a playful or joking way.

答えの意味：ふざけた、冗談めいた調子で幸運を祈っているのだと思います。

2. 本文下の熟語リスト・和訳

be engaged in ...

意味：～に従事している、～に関わっている

Example: We are engaged in digital correspondence with people in other countries.

例文訳：私たちはほかの国の人々とデジタル通信をしています。 be divided into ...

意味：～に分けられる

Example: Emoticons can be divided into two main types.

例文訳：顔文字は主に2種類に分けられます。

in other words

意味：言い換えれば、つまり

Example: You got a score of 75 percent. In other words, you passed the test.

例文訳：75点を取りました。言い換えれば、合格したということです。

by no means

意味：決して～ない

Example: It's difficult, but by no means impossible.

例文訳：それは難しいですが、決して不可能ではありません。

in the first place

意味：そもそも、第一に

Example: Actually, we didn't ask for his help in the first place.

例文訳：実のところ、そもそも私たちは彼に助けを求めていませんでした。

3. Whole Text View (文字起こし)

教科書のWhole Text Viewは本文の再掲です。以下にPart別にまとめます。

Part 1

You are curious about differences in emoticons and emojis between Japan and other countries. You have found an essay about it.

Have you had the experience of not being understood when you communicate through email or social media? In face-to-face communication, we use not only words but also facial expressions and tone of voice. They enable us to express what we want to say and how we feel. On the other hand, if we rely only on typed letters, there is always a possibility of misunderstandings or even arguments occurring. Many people often use emoticons or emojis to assist with putting emotions to their messages. If you type "Thank you! ^_^," you may be able to convey your feelings better.

It can be worth using emoticons or emojis to expand our range of expression. However, especially when we are engaged in digital correspondence with people in other countries, it may not be easy to convey subtle nuances by using them. There are several reasons why this might be the case.

Part 2

Firstly, people in different countries use different emoticons. Emoticons can be divided into two main types: horizontal :) and vertical ^_^. Some researchers analyzed the emoticons in 1 billion "tweets" in 15 different countries. As shown in the pie charts below, people in English-speaking countries overwhelmingly use the horizontal style. South Koreans most actively use vertical emoticons, 74% of the time. Japanese people also use vertical emoticons more often than horizontal ones. Interestingly, horizontal emoticons were more popular than vertical ones in other Asian countries such as the Philippines and Singapore. In these countries, people commonly use English along with their local languages.

Secondly, each culture has its unique ways of expressing different feelings. The emoticon representing a drop of sweat on a person's face ^_~; is sometimes used in South Korea and Japan to express shyness, embarrassment, or confusion. These kinds of expressions are only found within vertical emoticons. They would be completely alien to people who use horizontal emoticons.

Part 3

Thirdly, people view different parts of the face when they interpret emotions. One study investigated the ways Japanese and Americans focus on emoticons. The study participants were asked to evaluate how happy or sad each of six different emoticons looked. The faces were a combination of three different "eyes" (^~, ^^, and ^^) and three different "mouths" (☹, —, and ☺). The participants were asked to rate the emoticons on a scale of 1 to 9, with 9 being the happiest. Through the study, the researchers found that Japanese people tended to judge emoticons by looking at the eyes. Unlike Japanese participants, Americans looked more closely at the mouth. This finding may explain why the feeling represented by the expression "Thank you! ^_~" might not be understood by an American.

Part 4

Lastly, people need to have seen some emoticons before they can understand their meanings. An experiment was conducted in Japan, Cameroon, and Tanzania. The participants were asked to rate three different styles of emoticons by using a "sadness-happiness" scale. The Japanese participants easily recognized the emotions in the emoticons. On the other hand, the participants in Cameroon and Tanzania hardly understood them. They were utterly baffled by what the shape of each emoticon indicated. In other words, emoticons do not look like facial expressions to everyone.

Thus, emoticons are by no means universal. The style and usage of emoticons depend on the country, culture, and the way people perceive faces. There are also many people who have never seen them in the first place. Emoticons play a certain role in online communication, but we should not entirely rely on emoticons in cross-cultural communication. It goes without saying that writing clearly and logically is more important.

Comprehension 1 Give a title to each part.

- (a) Benefits and a problem of emoticons
- (b) Whether or not one has seen emoticons before
- (c) Cultural differences in what people see in emoticons
- (d) Influence of language and culture

【答え】 Part 1 = (a) / Part 2 = (d) / Part 3 = (c) / Part 4 = (b)

Comprehension 2: Listen to the sentences and circle T if the sentence is true. Circle F if the sentence is false. (a) T/F (b) T/F (c) T/F (d) T/F

【答え】 音声文が画像にないため、T/Fは確定できません。

4. Retelling Plus (文字起こし・解答)

Complete the chart below by writing a word in each box.

問題	答え
Part 1: can expand our range of ()	expression
Part 1: may not convey ()()	subtle nuances
Reason 1: Korean and Japanese use () emoticons	vertical Reason 1: English speakers use () emoticons	horizontal
Reason 2: () use a drop of sweat on a person's face ^_^;	vertical emoticon users
Reason 2: ^_^; would be completely ()	alien
Reason 3: Japanese look at the ()	eyes
Reason 3: Americans look at the ()	mouth
Reason 4: Japanese () recognized the emotions	easily
Reason 4: Cameroonians and Tanzanians () understood the emoticons	hardly
Conclusion: not ()	universal
Suggestion: write () and ()	clearly / logically

Retelling 2 (解答例)

Japanese and Korean people often use vertical emoticons, while English speakers usually use horizontal ones. Japanese people tend to look at the eyes, but Americans focus more on the mouth. Also, people who have never seen an emoticon may not understand it. Therefore, we should write clearly and logically in cross-cultural communication.

日本人や韓国人は縦向き顔文字をよく使いますが、英語話者は横向きをよく使います。日本人は目を見る傾向がありますが、アメリカ人は口により注目します。また、顔文字を見たことがない人は理解できないことがあります。したがって、異文化間のやり取りでは明確に筋道を立てて書くべきです。

5. Communication Activity (問題・解答例)

Listening

Chat shown on the page:

Yuka: Hi Josh! I saw Naomi's tennis game yesterday.

Josh: How did it go? I said to her, "Good luck" 8)

Yuka: Actually, she won the game. [emoji]

Josh: That's great. I'm happy to hear that.

Yuka: I would say it was the best game she's ever played. [emoji]

Yuka: All right. See you tomorrow >:D<

1. Josh is wondering what Yuka meant in the chat. Which emoticon or emoji are they talking about?
2. Which emoji would Josh understand?

【画像からの推定】 1 = (a) 8) / 2 = (d) grinning face. 正答の最終確認には会話音声が必要です。

Write a sentence using an emoji (解答例)

1. A: I have visited Kyoto three times. [surprised emoji]

B: Oh, really? I didn't know that. That's interesting!

2. A: I think there may be life on Mars. [thinking emoji]

B: Really? Hmm, I don't know about that.

3. A: You helped me finish my homework. [smiling emoji]

B: Thank you so much for everything you did for me.

Useful Expressions

Word / Phrase	和訳
What do you mean?	どういう意味ですか。
I've been wondering what you meant.	あなたがどういう意味で言ったのか気になっています。
Are you saying ...?	～と言っているのですか。
Where did you learn that?	それをどこで知ったのですか。
Who told you that?	誰がそう言ったのですか。
What made you think so?	どうしてそう思ったのですか。

6. Grammar (文字起こし・解答)

G1 さまざまな動名詞

動名詞の意味上の主語を示すときは、名詞・代名詞の目的格または所有格を動名詞の直前に置く。動名詞の意味を否定するときは、notやneverを動名詞の直前に置く。

1. I am sure of him [his] passing the test. (意味上の主語)
2. If we rely only on typed letters, there is always a possibility of misunderstandings or even arguments occurring. (意味上の主語)
3. Not having breakfast is bad for your health. (否定)
4. I don't like being spoken to while I am reading. (受動態)
5. Have you had the experience of not being understood when you communicate through email or social media? (否定+受動態)

G2 動名詞を使った表現

1. It can be worth using emoticons or emojis to expand our range of expression.
2. It goes without saying that writing clearly and logically is more important.
3. It is no use crying over spilt milk.
4. I can't help thinking about the exam.

Exercises 1

1. I'm sure of _____ the competition.

Answer: Mike's winning the competition.

答えの意味：マイクがその大会で優勝すると確信しています。

2. I'm sorry for _____ right away.

Answer: not answering your email right away.

答えの意味：あなたのメールにすぐ返事をしなくてごめんなさい。

3. I don't like _____ like a child.

Answer: being treated like a child.

答えの意味：子どものように扱われるのは好きではありません。

4. Talk about what you like and what you don't like about your friend.

Answer: I like my friend always helping others, but I don't like him sometimes being late.

答えの意味：友達がいつも人を助けるところは好きですが、ときどき遅刻するところは好きではありません。

Exercises 2 (解答例)

Spirited Away is worth watching. It is a story about a girl who enters a mysterious world. The story is so moving that you cannot help thinking about courage and family.

『千と千尋の神隠し』は見る価値があります。不思議な世界に入った少女の物語です。とても感動的で、勇気や家族について考えずにはいられません。

7. Real Life Information Guide to Visual Communication

Emoji dictionary (文字起こし・和訳)

Emoticon	意味
:D / XD	laughing, grinning: 大笑い、にっこり Ex. Thank God it's Friday :D
:'(	crying: 泣いている Ex. I just watched "A Dog of Flanders." :'(
:(/ :C	frown: しかめ面、悲しい Ex. I have no idea what to do :(
:	blank: 無表情 Ex. I'm not invited to the party :
:O	surprised: 驚いている Ex. I didn't expect to win the prize :O
:$	embarrassed, blushing: 恥ずかしい、赤面 Ex. I can't believe I said that! :$
;)	teasing: からかい、いたずら Ex. Sleep? You can sleep next year ;)
:P / xP	joking: 冗談 Ex. I never make any mistakes of course :P
:*	showing affection: 愛情を示す Ex. Thank you! You really helped me :*
:X / :#	keeping a secret or quiet: 秘密を守る、黙る Ex. Don't tell anybody :X
0:)	well behaved or pretending to be: 行儀がよい、よい子のふり Ex. I have washed all the dishes 0:)
:~)	devilish, wicked grinning: いたずらっぽい笑い Ex. Let's have a wild party after the exam! :~)
8)	cool, confident: かっこいい、自信がある Ex. I'm aiming for a perfect score 8)
:@	screaming: 叫んでいる Ex. The final exam is soon :@
:/ / :L	skeptical, doubtful: 疑っている、半信半疑 Ex. Hmm ... I'm not sure about that :/
>:D<	representing a hug or joy: 抱擁、喜び Ex. I can't wait to see you >:D<

Listen / Write / Speak

Listen to the sentences and circle T if the sentence is true. Circle F if the sentence is false. (a) T/F (b) T/F (c) T/F (d) T/F

【答え】音声文が画像にないため、T/Fは確定できません。

【Write 解答例】 8) means "cool or confident." This statement is true.

【Speak 解答例】 Is it true that 8) means "cool or confident"? - Yes, it is.

New Words

Word / Phrase	和訳
visual	視覚の
grin	にっこり笑う
frown	しかめ面をする
embarrassed	恥ずかしい、当惑した
blush	赤面する
tease	からかう
affection	愛情
devilish	小悪魔のような
wicked	いたずらな、邪悪な
confident	自信のある
skeptical	疑い深い、懐疑的な
doubtful	疑わしい
hug	抱擁、抱きしめること

8. Real Life English 1 How to Explain Japanese Food

Situation

Masaki is seventeen years old. He is studying at a private high school in the United States and lives with his roommates. One day, Japanese food becomes a topic of their conversation.

【和訳】 マサキは17歳です。アメリカの私立高校で学び、ルームメイトと暮らしています。ある日、日本食が会話の話題になります。

STEP 1 Make a Guess (解答例)

Joshua buys nori at a store. He asks Masaki, "You miss Japanese food, right?" Masaki says that food which looks Japanese is not always Japanese food.

ジョシュアは店でのりを買います。彼はマサキに「日本食が恋しいでしょう？」と尋ねます。マサキは、日本食らしく見えるものが必ずしも日本食とは限らないと伝えます。

STEP 2 Have a Conversation (解答例)

What do you think is a typical Japanese food?

Answer: I think sushi, tempura, and miso soup are typical Japanese foods.

答えの意味：寿司、天ぷら、みそ汁が代表的だと思います。

If you eat Japanese food on special occasions, what do you usually eat?

Answer: I usually eat sushi or osechi dishes on special occasions.

答えの意味：特別な日には、たいてい寿司やおせち料理を食べます。

What kind of impressions do you have of Japanese food?

Answer: I think Japanese food is healthy, colorful, and beautifully presented.

答えの意味：日本食は健康的で、彩りがよく、美しく盛りつけられている印象です。

STEP 3 Get the Message 1

The dishes below are actually found at stores in other countries. Read each explanation carefully and answer the question at the bottom.

1. California Roll

Egg, cucumber, crab, and avocado rolled with sushi rice on the outside, seaweed on the inside

【和訳】卵、きゅうり、カニ、アボカドを、外側が酢飯、内側が海苔になるよう巻いたもの

2. Miami Roll

Tuna, salmon, cucumber, and cream cheese sprinkled with green onion and tempura flakes

【和訳】マグロ、サーモン、きゅうり、クリームチーズに青ねぎと天かすを散らした巻きずし

3. Tropical Roll

Salmon, avocado, and cream cheese wrapped in fried banana and topped with teriyaki sauce

【和訳】サーモン、アボカド、クリームチーズを揚げバナナで巻き、照り焼きソースをかけたもの

4. Sweet Sushi Roll

Strawberry and cream cheese wrapped in salmon

【和訳】いちごとクリームチーズをサーモンで巻いたもの

5. Sushi Donut

Donut-shaped sushi stuffed with avocado, topped with salmon, sliced radish, cucumber, and fish roe

【和訳】アボカドを詰め、サーモン、薄切り大根、きゅうり、魚卵をのせたドーナツ形の寿司

6. Spam Musubi

Marinated grilled spam on top of a block of rice, wrapped together with roasted seaweed

【和訳】ご飯の上に味つけて焼いたスパムをのせ、焼き海苔で巻いたもの

7. Shrimp Shumai

Shrimp and green peas added on regular shumai fillings, wrapped with an egg skin

【和訳】普通のシュウマイの具にエビとグリーンピースを加え、卵の皮で包んだもの

8. Curry Tendon

Large shrimp tempura dipped in curry and rice, served in a bowl

【和訳】大きなエビ天をカレーに浸し、ご飯と一緒に丼で出すもの

9. Salad Soba

Buckwheat noodles mixed with poached chicken and vegetables with a sesame oil dressing

【和訳】 そばに鶏肉と野菜を混ぜ、ごま油のドレッシングをかけたもの

Question: In your opinion, are these dishes regarded as Japanese food? Write the number of each dish on a scale from 0% Japanese to 100% Japanese.

【解答例】 1: 70% / 2: 50% / 3: 20% / 4: 10% / 5: 50% / 6: 70% / 7: 60% / 8: 70% / 9: 80%。これは意見を答える問題なので、理由が説明できれば別の評価でも正解です。

STEP 4 Get the Message 2

Masaki asks his classmates what kind of impressions they have of Japanese food. Listen to their story and fill in the blanks on the list in Japanese.

【答え】 Alice・Fred・Rafulの音声内容が写真にないため、「和食の印象」「好きな和食」の欄は確定できません。音声を推測して埋めることはしていません。

STEP 5 Discuss and Share (解答例)

What is your definition of Japanese food?

Answer: Japanese food is food developed in Japan or adapted to Japanese ingredients, tastes, and eating customs.

答えの意味：日本で発達した料理、または日本の食材・味・食習慣に合わせて工夫された料理です。

What are some examples that fit your definition?

Answer: Sushi, tempura, miso soup, ramen, and curry rice fit my definition.

答えの意味：寿司、天ぷら、みそ汁、ラーメン、カレーライスなどです。

STEP 6 Expand Your Vocabulary (記入例)

Word / Phrase	和訳
dressed with	〜で和えた
season with	〜で味つけする
wrap A in B	AをBで包む
top A with B	AにBをのせる
sprinkle A with B	AにBを散らす
dip A in B	AをBに浸す
serve A in a bowl	Aを丼で出す
roasted seaweed	焼き海苔

STEP 7 Summarize What Happened (解答例)

Joshua bought nori and asked Masaki whether he missed Japanese food. Masaki explained that food that looks Japanese is not always Japanese food. They looked at several dishes sold in other countries and discussed what should be called Japanese food. Masaki then shared examples and explained his definition.

ジョシュアは海苔を買い、マサキに日本食が恋しいか尋ねました。マサキは、日本食らしく見えるものが必ずしも日本食ではないと説明しました。二人は外国で売られているさまざまな料理を見て、何を日本食と呼ぶべきか話し合いました。その後、マサキは例を挙げ、自分の定義を説明しました。